

This is not a manifesto. Manifestos call for a world to come and also call for a world to change, although now only a specter of a world to come, an agent of change. Manifestos are written by people who by the power of their vision move people. Michael Hardt & move people by making manifestos and prophecies. They have already Antonio Negri to move people in squares, not only threatening but also conjuring visions of a new world. They move the multitudes, through their vision, their slogans and desires, have declared their declaration become the world of a sustainable society? How can they guide us in reinventing how we live in the world? In their rebellion, they move from passage from declaration to

Resumo de Declaration

This is not a manifesto. Manifestos provide a glimpse of a world to come and also call into being the subject, who although now only a specter must materialize to become the agent of change.

Manifestos work like the ancient prophets, who by the power of their vision create their own people. Today's social movements have reversed the order, making manifestos and prophets obsolete. Agents of change have already descended into the streets and occupied city squares, not only threatening and toppling rulers but also conjuring visions of a new world.

More important, perhaps, the multitudes, through their logics and practices, their slogans and desires, have declared a new set of principles and truths. How can their declaration become the basis for constituting a new and sustainable society?

How can those principles and truths guide us in reinventing how we relate to each other and our world? In their rebellion, the multitudes must discover the passage from declaration to constitution.

Acesse aqui a versão completa deste livro