Resumo de The Bedside Book of Final Words

For some people, the last thing they ever say turns out to be the most memorable. It might be poignant, modest, deluded, funny or philosophical. From Beethoven to Byron, Aldous Huxley (LSD, 100 ug, intramuscular.

) to Henry James (So here it is at last.), and Humphrey Bogart (Good by kid. Hurry back.) to Bing Crosby (That was a great game, fellas.

)The Bedside Book of Final Words selects the best sayings from people of all kinds: Artists, Musicians, Poets and Writers, Actors and Performing Arts, Businessmen and Philanthropists, Criminals and Revolutionaries, Dictators, Heroes, Scientists, Politicians and Statesmen, Soldiers, Sailors, Airmen and Adventurers, US Presidents, Actors, Clerics, and Royalty."
